MANAKATA

1944

Year Book of the Students of
HOLY NAMES ACADEMY
SPOKANE, WASHINGTON

MANAKATA

"years together"
with Sisters, and friends
to help us
bring happiness
to us at Holy Names.

MANAKATA SYMBOL

The upper triangle
symbolic of the hand outstretched in welcome — offering us help —
beckoning to Right Paths giving friendship.

The lower triangle
a symbol of the heart
love of beauty —
joy in accomplishment of purpose —
fondness for friends —
loyalty to principles.

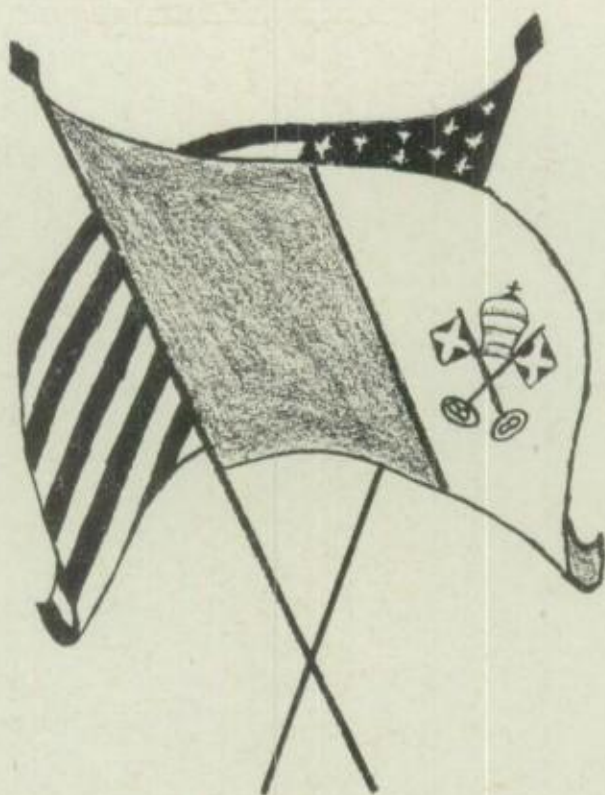

The round disk — Sun!
Light of intellect —
illumination of the work of hand,
the happiness of heart
Spokane, Land of the Sun —
the friendly city.
Sun — Son of Justice,
bringing to the world
light — hope — salvation
God!

Frances Moran, '40.

To the many chaplains throughout the world who are so valiantly protecting the spiritual life of our boys in uniform, to the innumerable works of mercy which they are performing on far-flung battlefields, to the ideals which they uphold midst the horrors of war, we proudly dedicate this, the fifth memoir of our "Years together."

May God in His beautiful clemency, through the intercession of His Mother, the Immaculate Queen of Peace, the patron of our Manakata, aid these military Apostles of Christ in their overwhelming task of leading fighting souls to their ultimate glory.

WORDS OF WISDOM

"The experience of the ages shows that the most powerful human agency in all the world for the promotion of human welfare is neither civil government nor economic systems nor schools, even the most perfect, but those Christian homes where parents are faithful to their sacred responsibilities toward their children. Where parents do their full duty, the cells that constitute the social body are sound, and consequently society itself, the state, is sound and reacts for the welfare of all the individuals and groups that compose it.

"There is no real substitute for the Christian home, just as there is no substitute for Christian education. And Christian education is possible only when the Christian home and the Christian school co-operate, each with the other. Christian education alone can produce the character that is essential for walking righteously before God and men. To see that the rising generation receives that all-important training is a responsibility that rests squarely upon parents, a responsibility that can be shifted to no one else. Great and wonderful is the dignity of parenthood, and correspondingly great are its responsibilities."

Excerpt from the Official letter of
His Excellency, Most Reverend Charles D. White,
Bishop of Spokane, February 18, 1944.

A MESSAGE

"Everyone therefore who hears these my words and acts upon them, shall be likened to a wise man who built his house on rock. And the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat against that house, but it did not fall, because it was founded on rock." — Matt. VII, 24-26.

It is the hope and prayer of every member of the Faculty that the graduates of '44 may exemplify the Master's teaching preceding these, His words. Thus the structure of their lives will stand secure and strong through these uncertain times reaching their fulfillment under the standard of Jesus and Mary.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Holy Names students have been eager to do their part for "The Land of the Free" this year as always. Under the able guidance of Tri-A, the classes entered wholeheartedly into the nation-wide paper drive.

Above the girls are shown loading their first week collection. "Five tons in five days" was the caption used by the Spokesman-Review for this picture which appeared on its front page.

Our Bond Drive was a great success with each class reaching more than full quota.

However efforts found most effective and perfect expression in the Academy Spiritual Defense Corps, an organization whose forceful weapon is prayer combined with good works offered DAILY that God's grace may flow in abundance on the apostolic work of our chaplains among the boys in battle, camp or hospital.

THE RED CROSS

The face of War is terrible
For human eyes to see:
It takes its toll, unbearable,
In high mortality.

While man must leave his loved to fight
On battlefields of stress,
It is the woman's harder part
To bear the loneliness;

And yet it is the woman's part
To keep the homefires warm.
"He also serves who — waits." A bright
Red Cross upon her arm.

Winnona Ellerton

Early in the school year we enrolled in the Junior American Red Cross and have readily responded to their requests for aid by contributing afghans, hospital tray favors for Christmas, Valentines, and St. Patrick's day, ket bags, pillow slips, hot water bag covers, cartoon books, and classic novels. Not the least of our undertakings was the collection of approximately 2,000 coat hangers which were sent to Baxter General Hospital. Five hundred inspiring holy pictures have been mounted and distributed among the boys in the service.

Encouraged by our success in this organization and the knowledge that we are assisting in the war effort many of us hope to continue in this admirable work.

FACULTY

We, the students of Holy Names Academy, 1943-44, wish to express our deep gratitude to you, Sister Mary Joan, Superior, and the entire faculty, for all that our Alma Mater has given us during these "years together."

To Reverend John W. Dunne, S. J., who has devoted himself untiringly that we may "know the only true God and Jesus Christ Whom He hath sent." We owe a debt which we are unable to pay except by the worthy lives we hope to live.

CLASS PROPHECY

Good afternoon ladies! It's Maxwell house toffee time and we bring you those two wandering reporters with the news you have been waiting for.

It is a beautiful day, isn't it, ladies? Yes, a beautiful, hot day in July, 1954, and we've been busy finding the news you want. We've had some real luck and a few good scoops. Yesterday we were privileged to visit with Aileen Boutin. You will remember her as the girl who used to collect phonograph records. Well, she is still listening to her Master-son's voice . . . !! With her that afternoon we were lucky enough to find Marian Buckley, who, contrary to her previous Buckley disposition, has become "Moody" of late, but in spite of the fact, she is a "Budding" beauty. Marian informed us that the better half the Buckley's — Alice, and her old school chums, Arlene Manning and Mary Potesky, have just witnessed the opening of their new Night Spot, the "Dishin' Mary" — Arlene imported from Hillyard as head cashier, Mary Gallagher. The customers say that Mary is really an even "Steven" business woman.

In prospects of catching some of our old friends there, we hustled over and we were fortunate enough to see such famous characters there as Katherine Groo, who has recently risen to the heights of glory by perfecting a new spaghetti — quite an art for Kathy!! Sitting across from her we were not too surprised to find Patt Green — now a charming little housewife. She has recently had her hair Bobbed — Rally she has . . . Suddenly our attention was diverted by a fanfare announcing the floor show. Much to our surprise we recognized the Master of Ceremonies as Frances Mauro, whose loud, jovial voice introduced a sensational feat. It seemed that Eileen Medved and Helen Milla were diving 500 feet through the air into a damp rag. We stood watching, amazed when a terrible disaster occurred. After thorough examination by Chief Bridget Sherlock Holmes and her detectives, Marian Temple, Julia Falsetto and Phyllis Dashiell, it was revealed that virtuoso Betty Jane Johnson, in a fit of jealousy, had wrung out the rag because her violin tour was cancelled in favor of the act.

As soon as the excitement died down, who should come in the door but Mary Lou Kimmel, who was just discharged from the House of David Baseball team. Following close behind her came Eva Malek, Beth Dirkes, Jean Kalez and Ramona Stengar, in very high spirits for they had just won a basketball game. They are members of Hoy's Hotball Basketball team — it seems that Manager Hoy, in the interest of her players, took to chopping off the opponents' thumbs when they reached too eagerly for the ball. The game was a real thriller, the floor was so slippery they could hardly keep on their feet. The gym owner, Eva Conrad, had purchased the wax from that super sales woman Blanche Kaufman of the Wilcox Wax Company — for every ten cans she sells, Blanche receives a Blue "Jay."

A large bus rumbled by the door and we glanced up to see a familiar face at the wheel; it was Ann Orndorff — she says she would rather drive a "Buzz" than "Walker" way around town. Seated directly behind her were Nancy Smith and Frances Delaney. Frances has recently been employed by the Thompson's Rug Cleaners as a "thumper." Who should be sitting on the back bumper but Mary B. Owens, who, incidentally, is now a famous Lion Tamer. No doubt you have heard of Charlie the Lion, well, she has tamed him and has he settled down!

Having turned back to our table, we were surprised to hear a singing paper girl. Anxious to see the latest news we called her over to find that it was Jenny Rotunno bringing in the latest scoops written by that ace reporter, Colleen Johansen, working now for Editor Rosemary Wieman's paper, "The Bugle Call Rag." The blazing red headlines revealed that a Scientist, namely Rosanne O'Brien, has gone completely mad trying to find a substitute for people. Incidentally, she found it — you'd go mad, too. After being diagnosed by Dr. Ann Gillespy of the "Davenport" hospital, she has been put under the able care of Nurses Devlin, Wynne, Dube, Cutz, and the patient's loving sister, Lorraine. We feel that she is well on her way.

Glancing through the theatre ads we see featured there the Golwen Follies of 1954, starring that ballet queen, Helen Dillon. The name of the show is "Fars and Starters," known in continental France as "Stars and More Stars." She is being presented at the Morphium Theatre under the able management of Patricia Courser, and when there is only one thing to be done — she does it.

In the extreme left-hand corner we find an advertisement, the Girnus Furnace Factory is having a fire sale.

Turning to the society column we read that Antonia and husband of the McCafferties are cele-

Four bright years together

Crowned by glory, fame, and more,

Aided by Our Lady of Lourdes —

The Class of '44.

SENIORS

Dear Girls:

We, the class of '44, hope that you, the classes of '45, '46, and '47, enjoy your years of high school together as much as we have and especially your Senior year. Here are some of the events that made our Senior year so much fun:

November — "Autumn Whirl"

December — Sportsmanship Banner tenth time

February — Senior Prom

March — Sportsmanship Banner eleventh time

May — Senior Skip; Baccalaureate; Recollection Day; Commencement

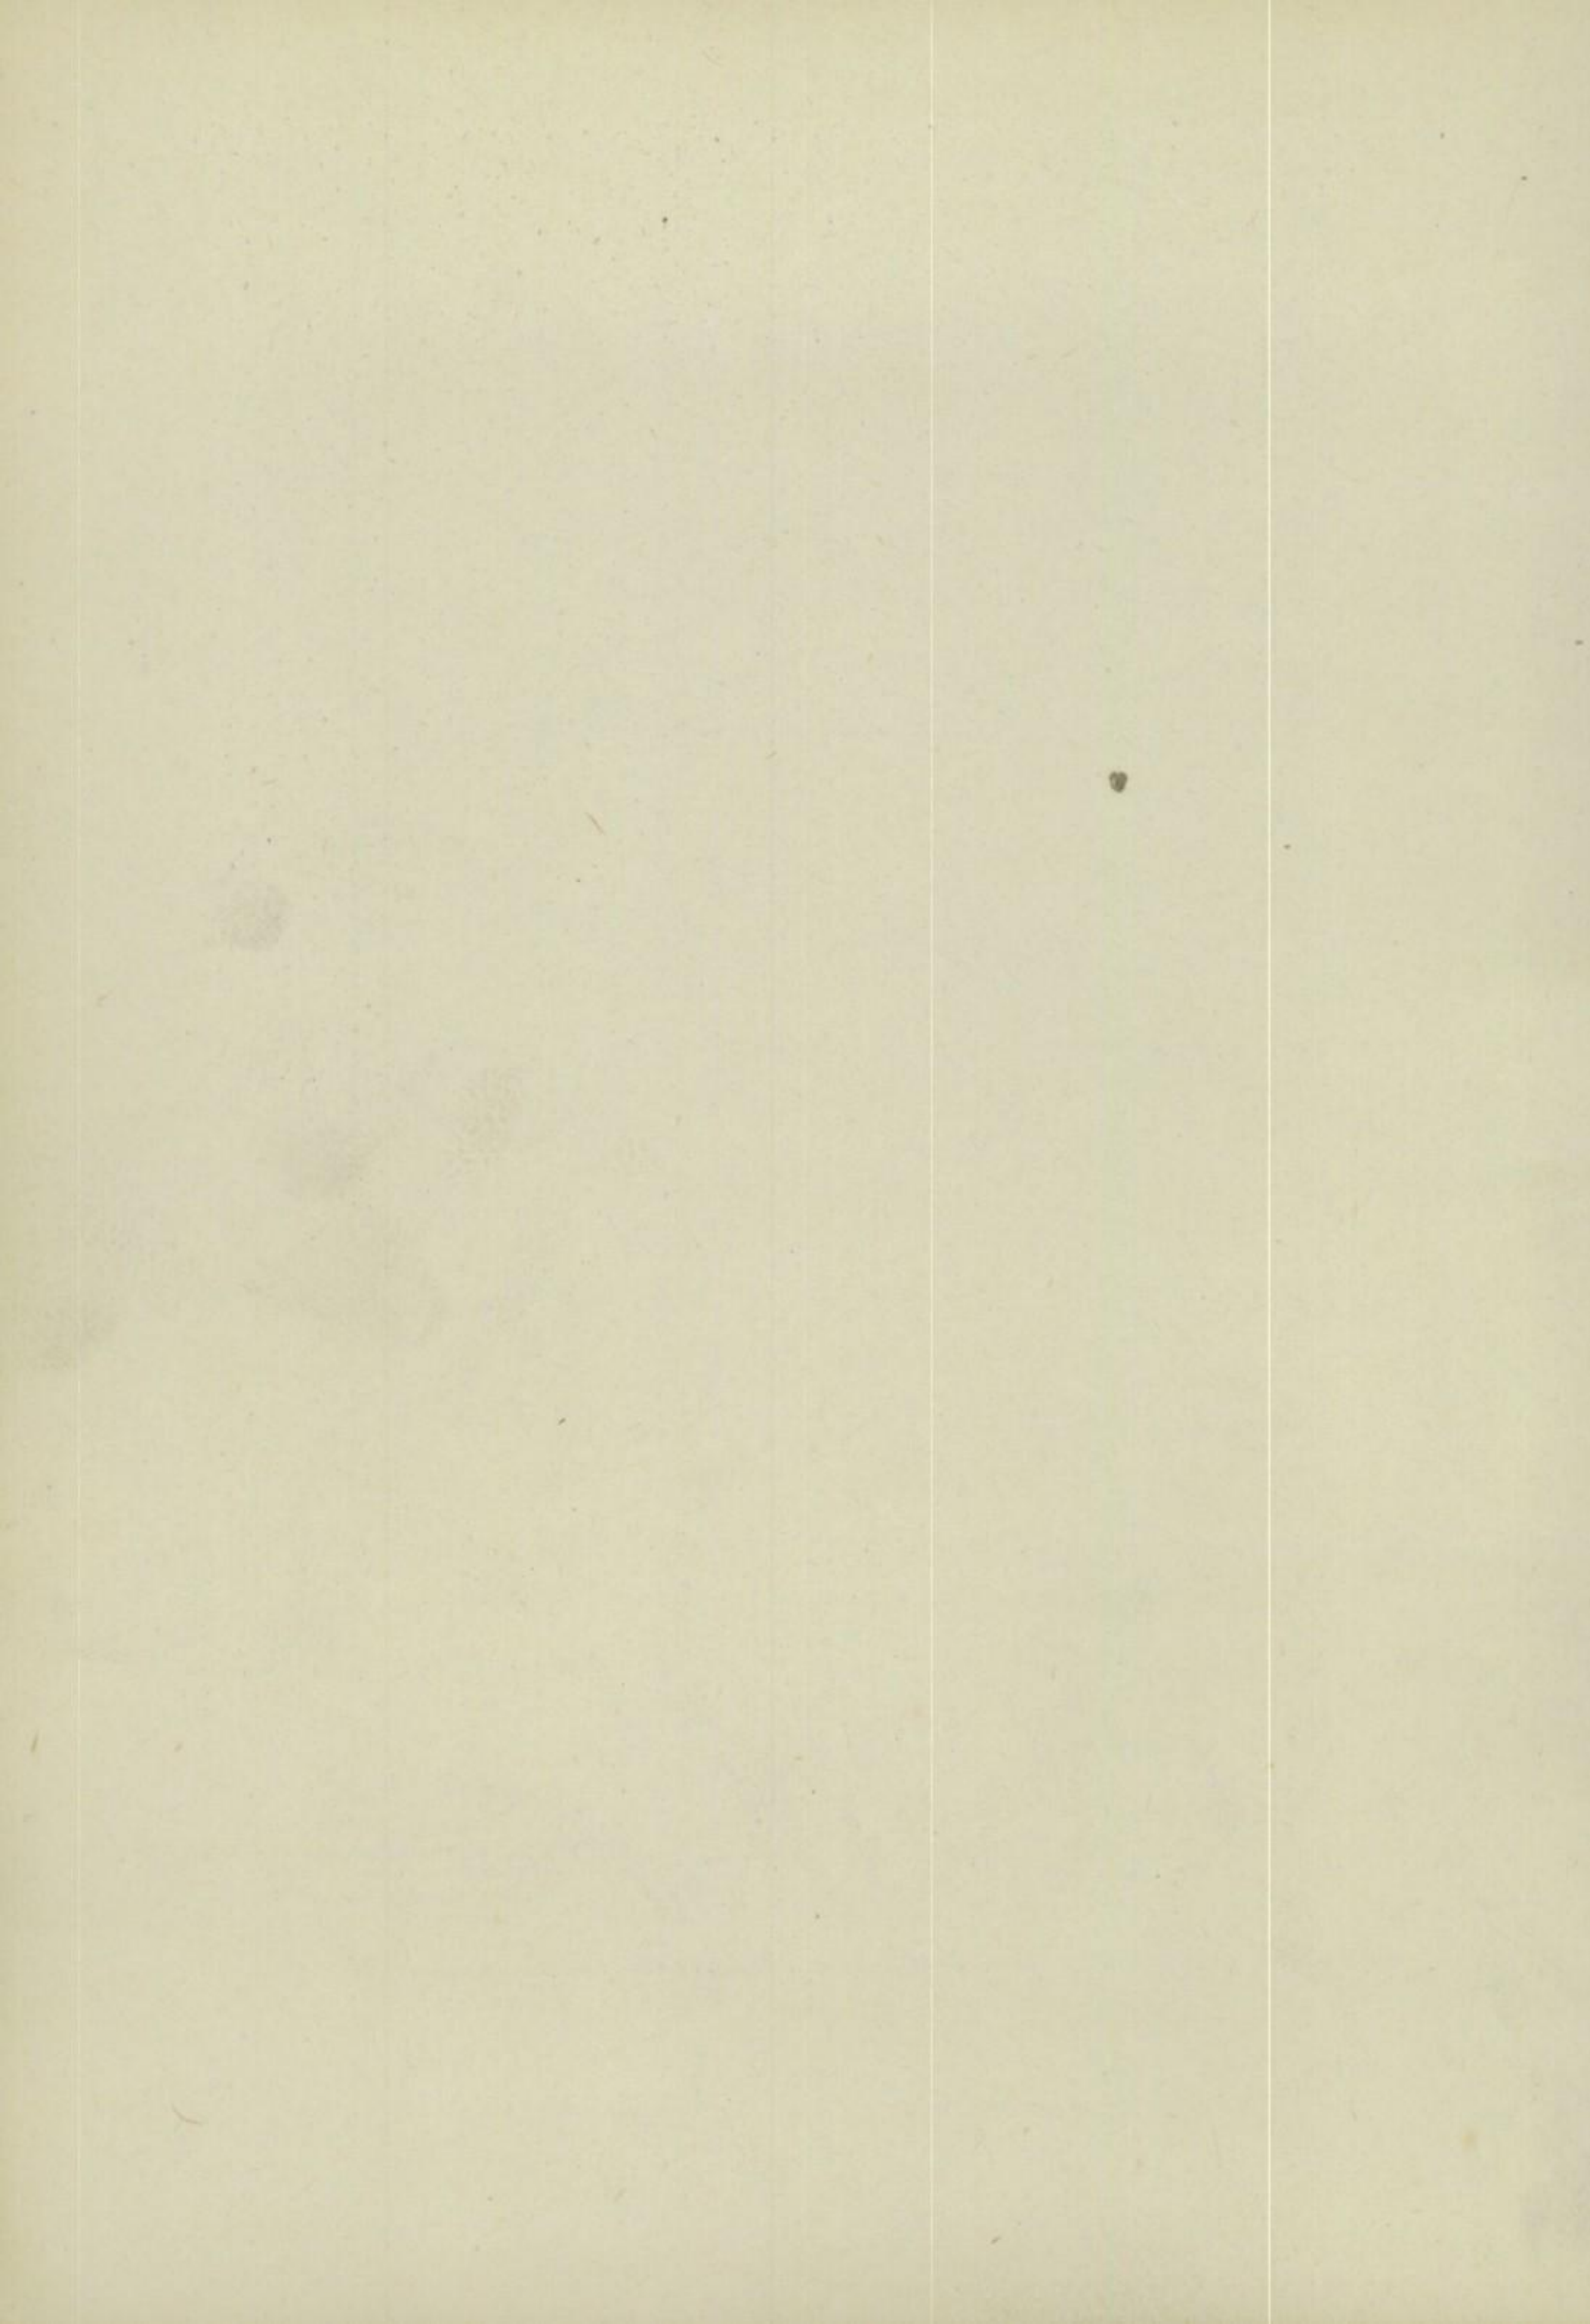

We look back on our four years together — regretful to leave — grateful to remember.

THE CLASS OF '44

CLASSES

JUNIORS

Dear Students:

Remembering our third year together, the Junior class looks back on the "red-letter days" that made the year such a great success.

December 3 — We won the Volleyball Championship.

February 16 — We gave the "Annual Amble" afternoon Mixer.

February 29 — Our class won the Paper Drive Contest sponsored by Tri-A.

March 30 — We won the Basketball Championship.

April 12 — We were awarded the "Be on Time" Banner.

April 14 — The Daisy Doodle night Mixer was given to raise funds for the Manakata.

May 9 — With the close of the school year, our final triumph was the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Looking forward to our Senior year together,

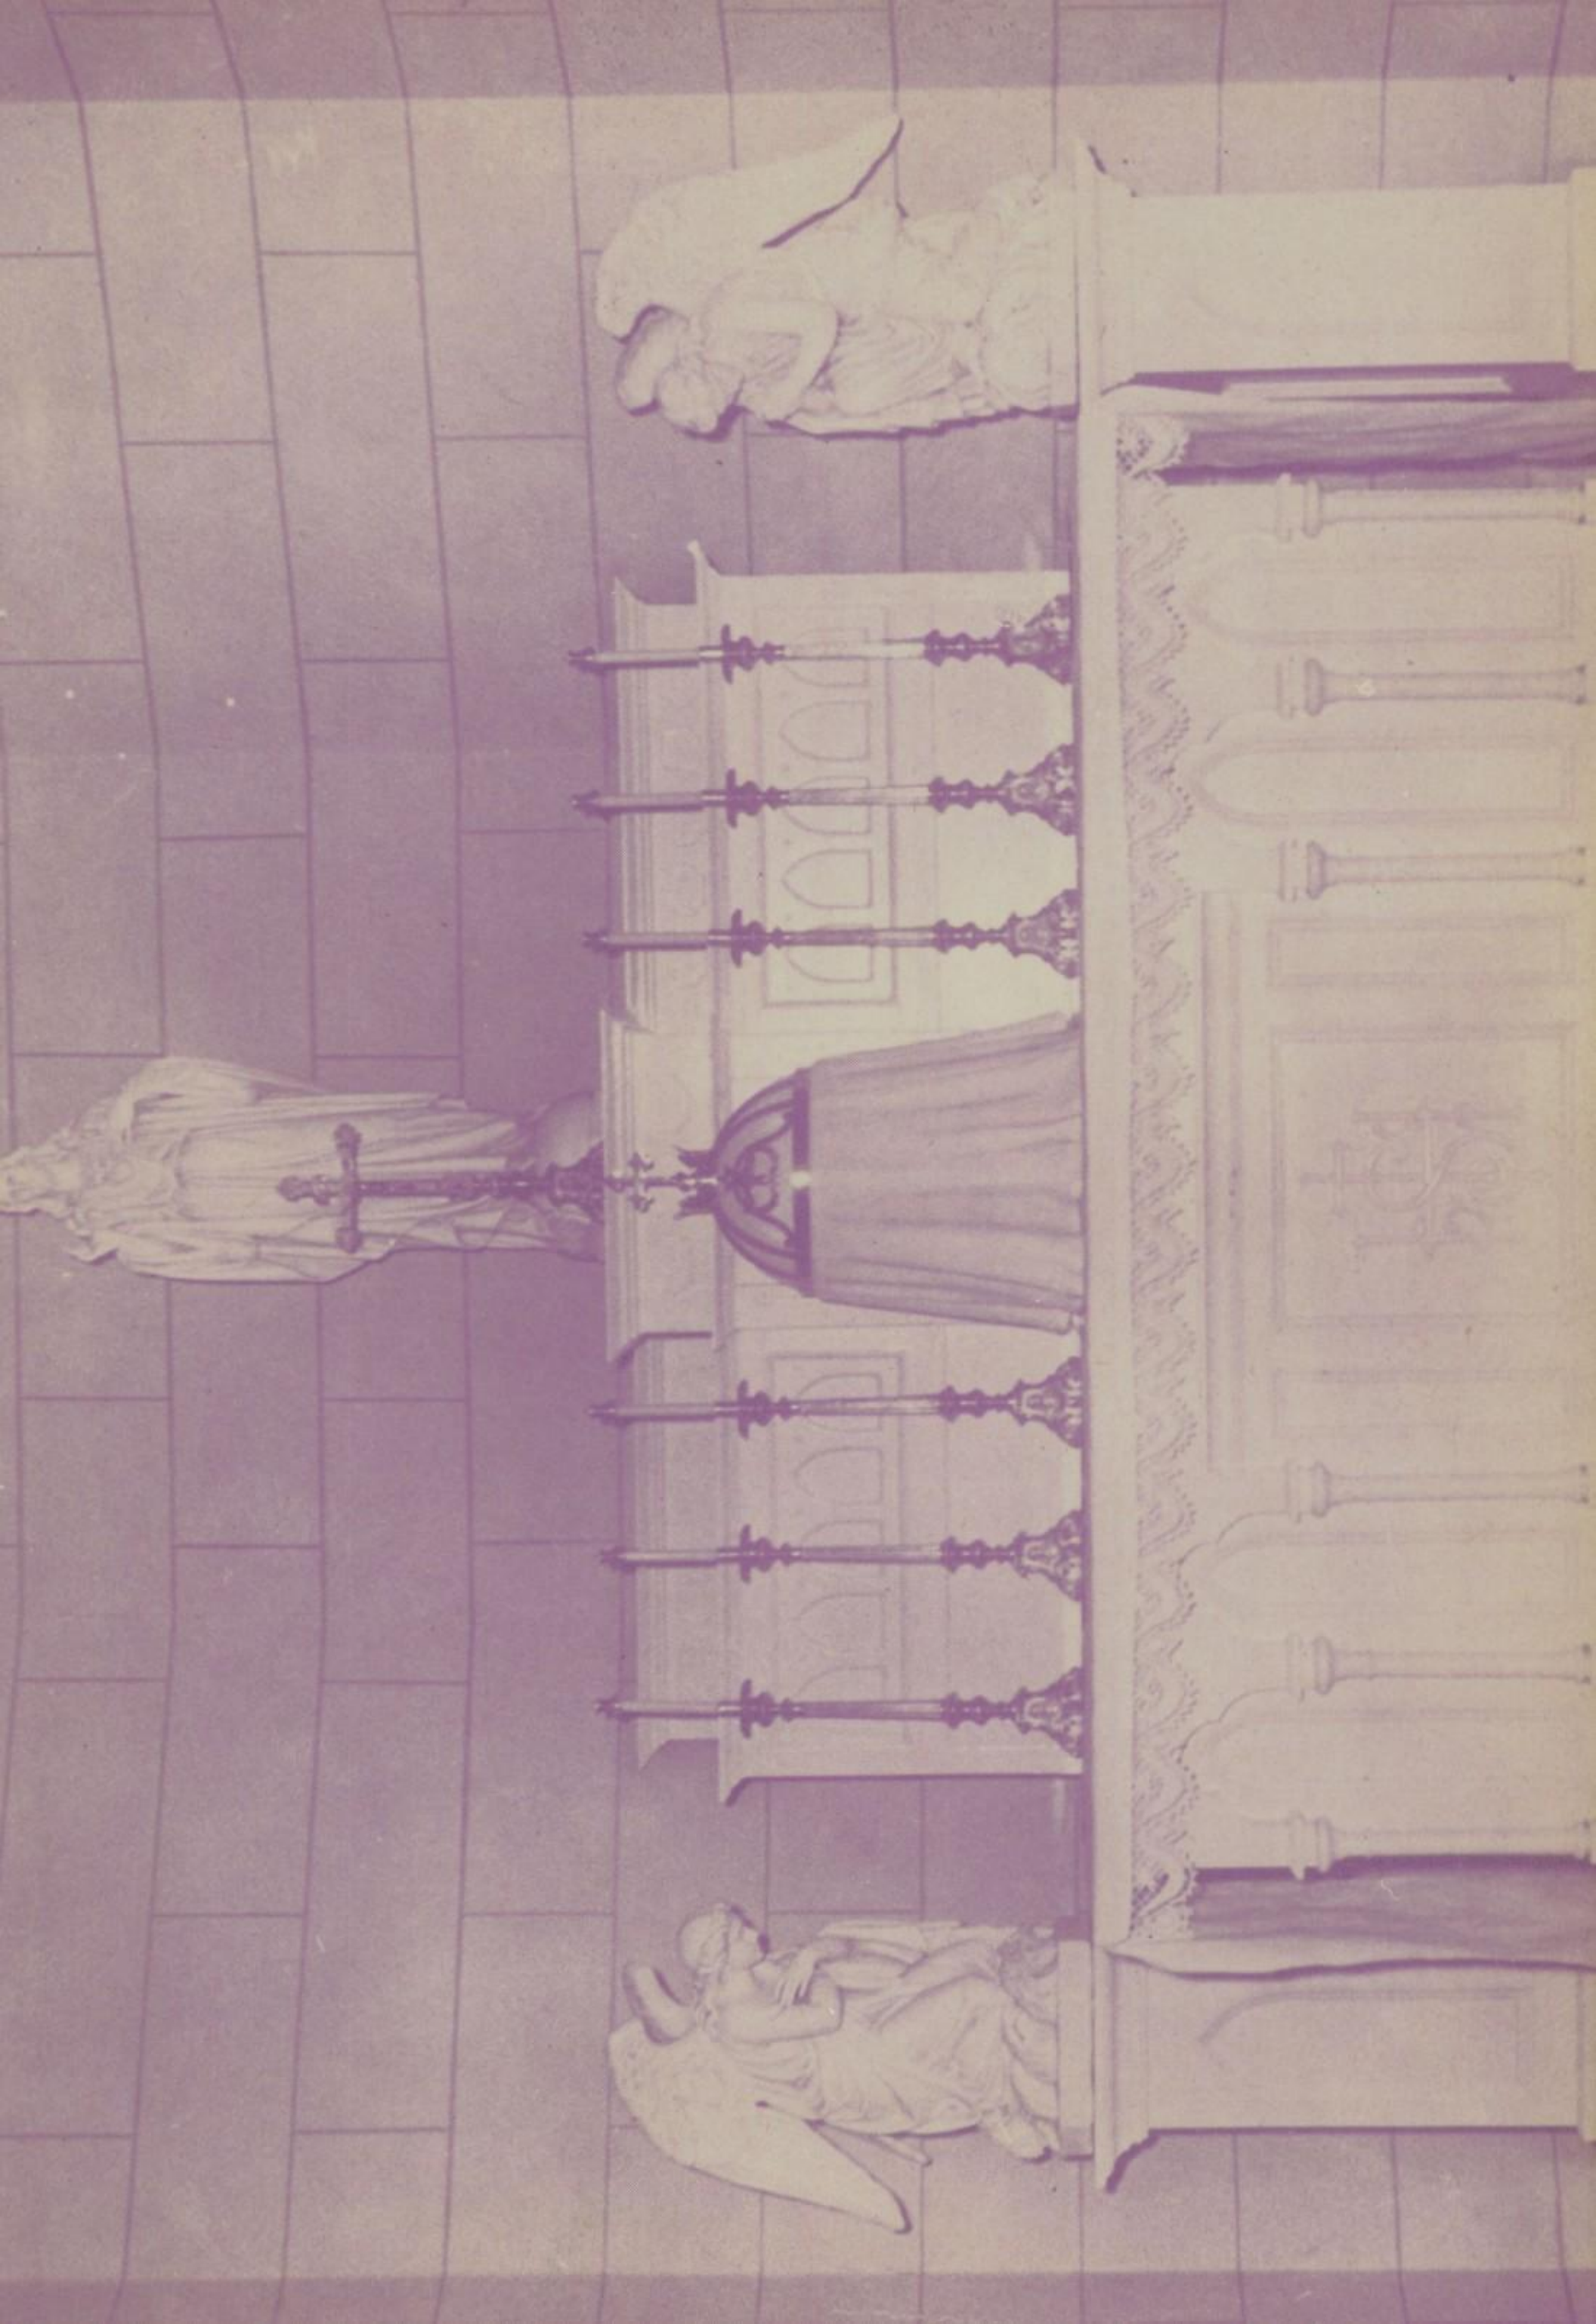

THE JUNIOR CLASS.

SOPHOMORE B

Dear Girls:

Here are some of our "red-letter days." Remember them?

September — We won the Queen's Work Contest and initiated the Freshmen.

October — The Rosary Play. Cake sale. Our "blind" accordionist brought in money for the Annual.

November — "A Catholic Action" play was given for the Student Body.

December — We won the Bond Drive and Christmas poetry contest.

To celebrate, the class had a Christmas party.

February — We had a Valentine Box auction in the class room.

April — Our Country Fair was given to raise money for the Annual.

Looking forward to our next year together,

THE SOPHOMORE B'S.

BIOLOGY CLASS

Nutritive experiments on rats led this year's Biology activities. The students have acquired a thorough knowledge of the affects of vitamin A, D, and protein deficiencies on the human body.

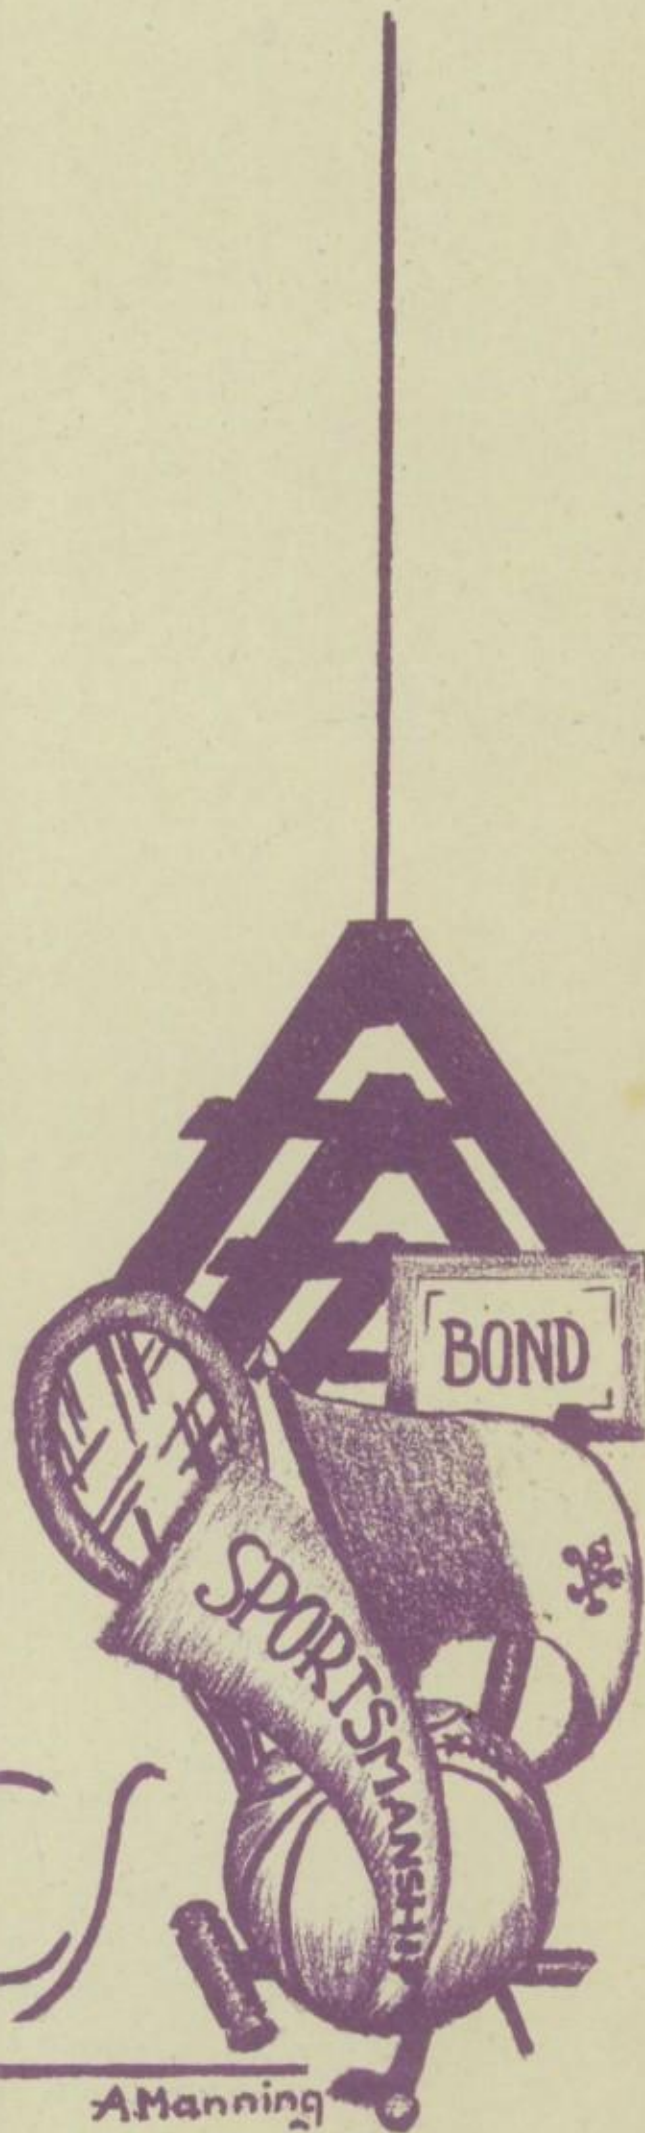

Among other interesting undertakings were flower classification, comparative anatomy, and an intensive study of bacteria. Assuredly all who delved into the subject eagerly anticipate further exploration in the broad field of science.

TRI-A

The Tri-A Club of 1944 can proudly look back upon a year of great accomplishments and success. Frances Devlin was the capable leader of our numerous activities and with the combined efforts of all Tri-A members, new standards were set that will be hard to exceed.

One of the most important encounters this year was the editing of Tri-Angles, our news sheet through which our alumna and friends were informed about the doings of Holy Names. Our first attempt at journalism met with enthusiastic encouragement due to the unselfish devotion of our Editor-in-Chief, Kaye Codd, and her staff assistants, Dolores Wernette and Mary Frances Thompson, who carried on untiringly even during the absence of our Physical Education Directress.

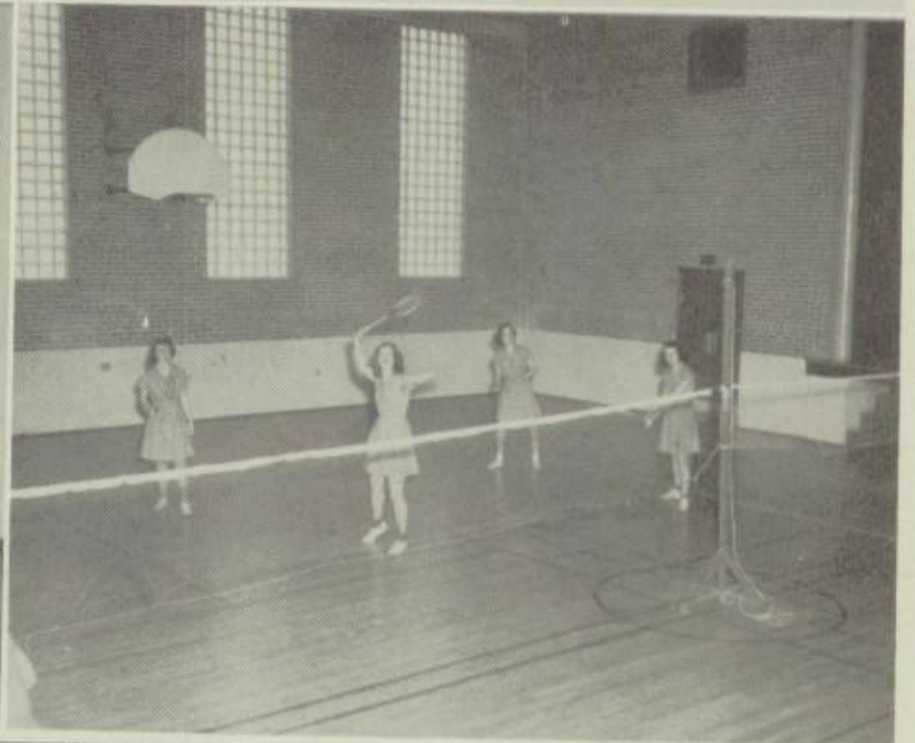

All in all, our ambitions were completely fulfilled when at the end of our paper drive we realized the total amount for the purchase of a moving picture projector to be installed as soon as possible.

The top pictures show the Juniors and Seniors in action at the Night Game.

Extra curricular activities that have won much acclaim from all the girls are the subsidiary sports. Particularly popular among these is softball, which draws spirited fans to Mission Park after school to witness and help win the inter-class trophy. This year the tennis, badminton and table tennis tournaments proved to be most exciting because of the interest shown. The privilege of learning to be archers is being enjoyed by the Seniors while the entire school has memories of happy hiking days.

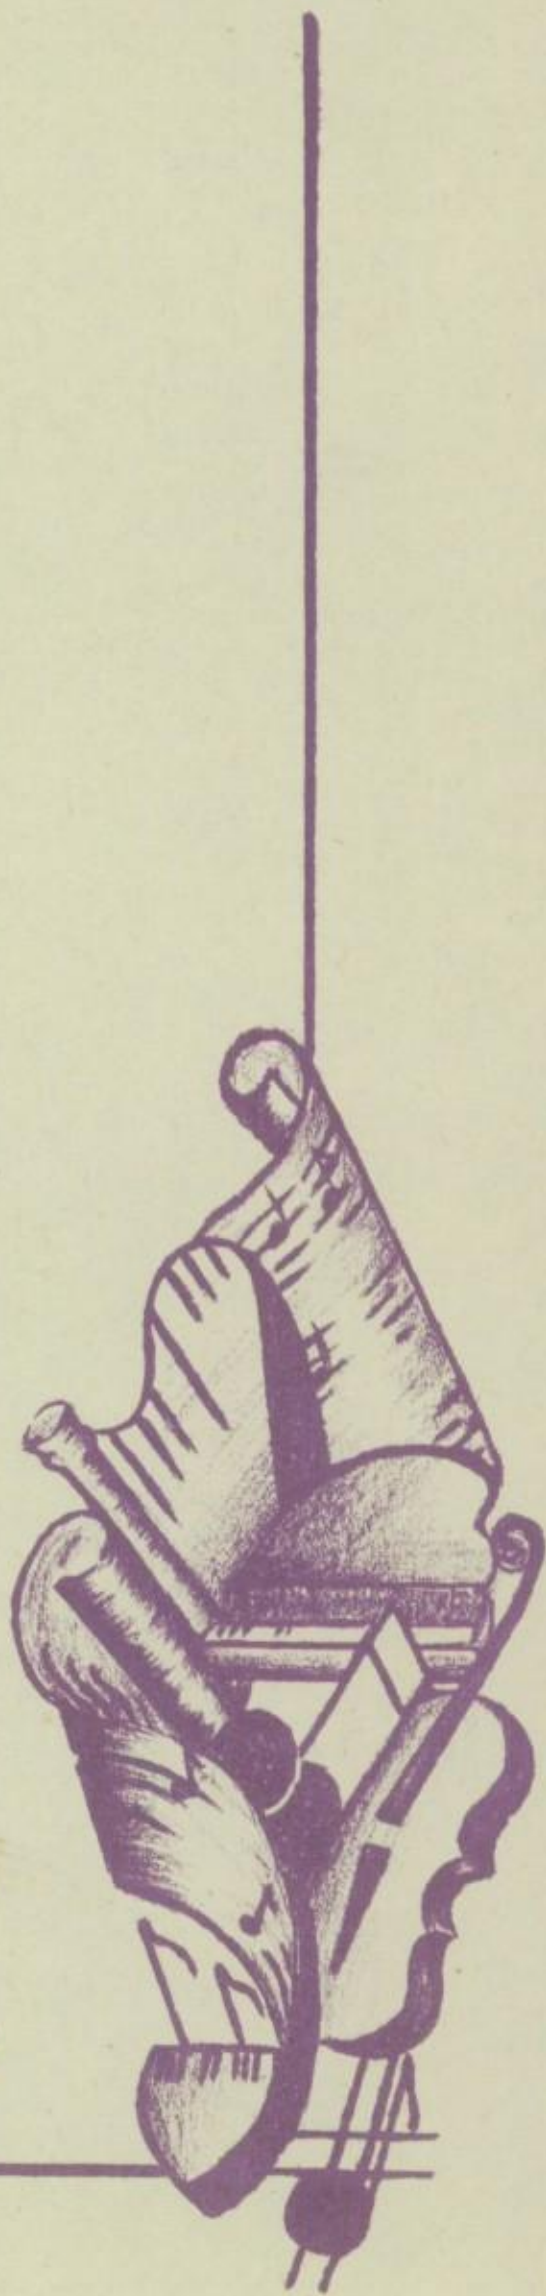

The color and excitement of the "Night Game" pictures on this page was enhanced by the stunts of each class. Rousing yells were led by the cheer leaders and the capacity crowd enjoyed their originality and spirit.

CATHOLIC ACTION GROUP

Dear Girls:

During this past year our Catholic Action group has been most successful in the accomplishment of its two-fold purpose, personal holiness and the spiritual good of others.

Personal holiness has been the main objective since it is the means to reach our ultimate goal — heaven, and because we cannot hope to inspire virtue in others if we do not possess it. Frequent and fervent visits to the Eucharistic King, efforts to make mental prayer, study and discussion of our Holy Faith have been some sources from which we have sought God's grace.

Each student has contributed to the "propagation of the Faith" and worked tirelessly in securing subscriptions to the Catholic literature not only during the very successful Catholic Press month but throughout the entire year. One of the highlights of the year was our assembly to honor His Holiness Pope Pius XII, and the presentation of a Papal flag to the student body by the Freshmen classes.

Our most valued accomplishment was the organization of the Academy Spiritual Defense Corps, the aim of which is to offer prayer and sacrifice to obtain abundant grace for our chaplains in their zeal for souls.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Girls:

H. N. A. spirit of 1943-44 has been the best ever. This exceptional attitude is due in no small measure to the up-right character and inspiring leadership of our Student Body President, Kaye Codd, who has lived the principles she has voiced.

One of our first activities was the organization of the Junior Red Cross after the visit of Mrs. Manchester and Mrs. Wright in October. We know the satisfaction which was ours as each of the many projects for bringing comfort to our boys in the camps or hospitals was completed.

What a great success was our War Bond Drive both in the grand total for the school and the hundred per cent and more of each class. Our school year was highlighted by the visit of Mother General and Mother Mary Eleanore and punctuated by the many enjoyable mixers and entertainments given for our "Manakata."

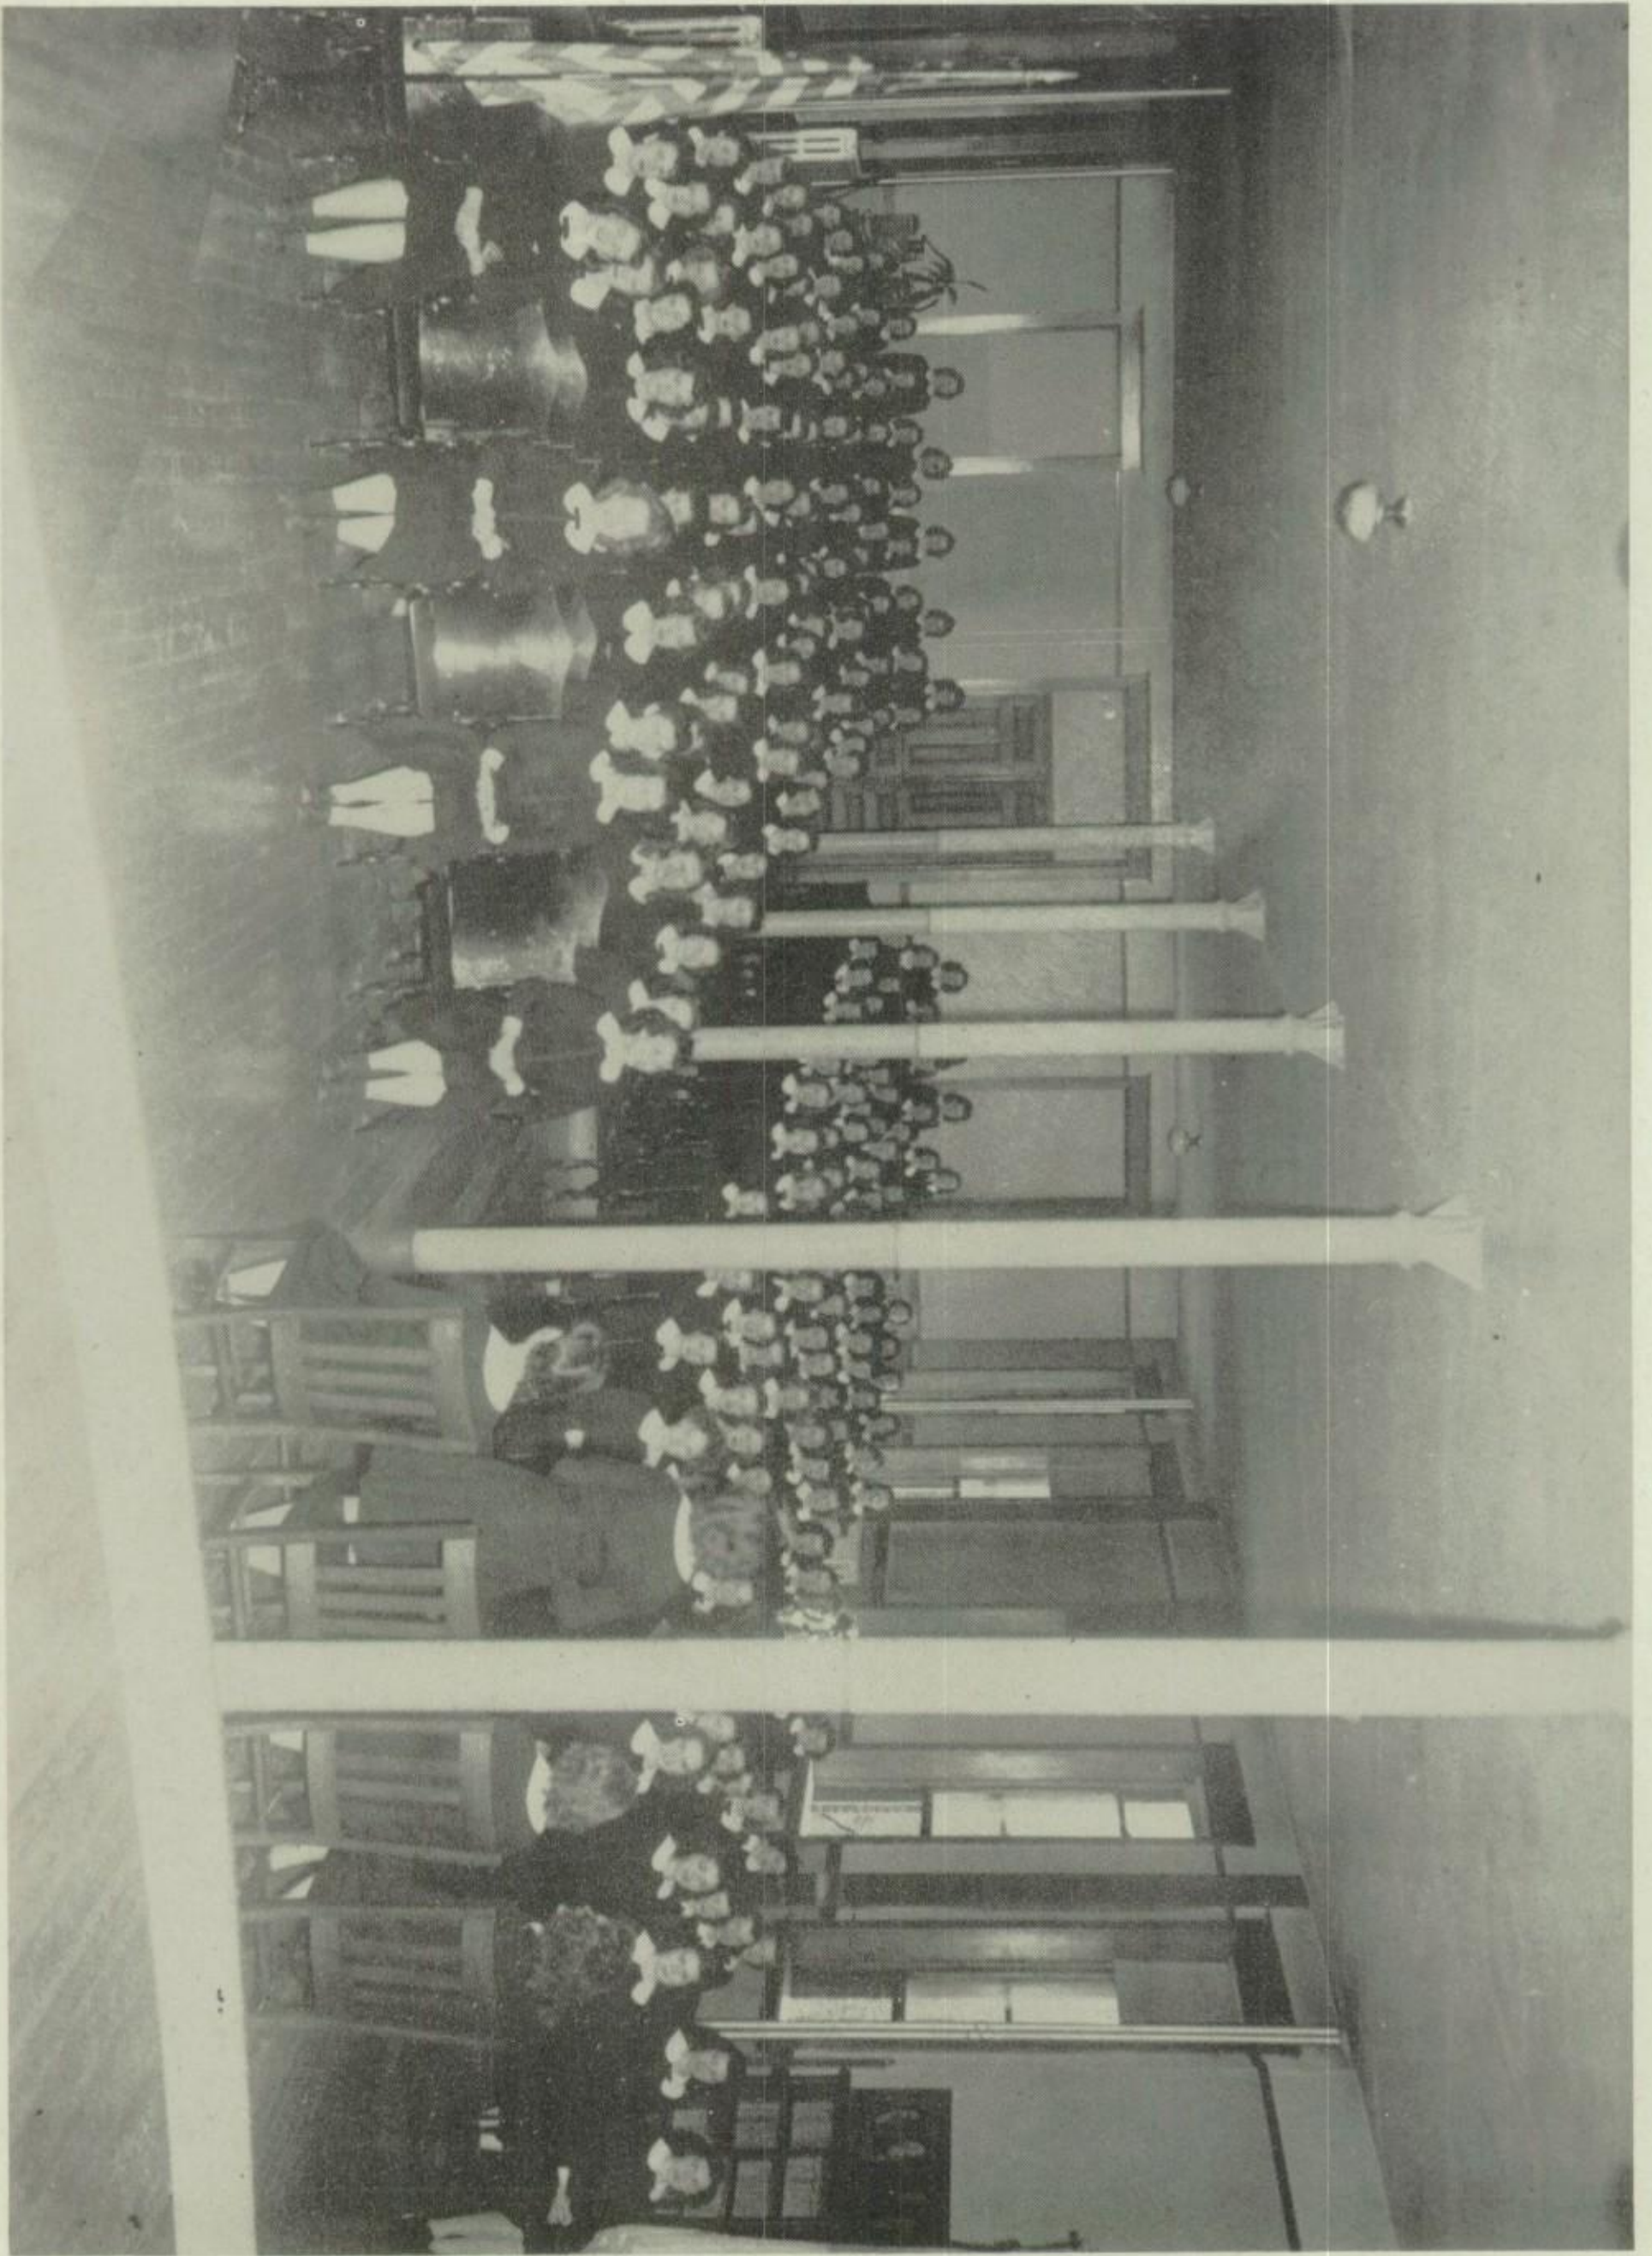

The dramatic talents of our classmates were proved in the Christmas tableau, the Rosary and Book Week and Vocation plays, and of course, the many skits presented throughout the year.

Undoubtedly the past year has been a most profitable one, and we wish to thank the faculty for all their generous help, and the students for their whole-hearted cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
LOIS SCRIVENER
Secretary, 1943-44

THE SPIRIT OF RHO SIGMA CHI

From cities far and towns so near,
From states throughout the West,
Come girls who lend their hearts so dear
To aim at goals, the best.

Whether dinners in the candlelight
Or picnics on the green,
The joys are many, the sorrows few,
The spirit the best you've seen.

Spires

Tall bronze Cathedral spires
Stretch upward, seem to rise
Halfway to God
'Neath spun blue morning skies.

Tall bronze Cathedral spires
Reach out to sooth the rain
Like tears from God
Shed there for needless pain.

I've seen those stately spires
Etched black against the night;
To God they lift their arms in prayer to keep
The world they watch aright.

Confession

The cleansing snow
Came softly down to earth last night
And brown, unsightly spots
Once more were white.

'Tis thus my sinful soul
Is cleansed from every stain —
The darkness of each fault
Made white again.

Anna Neidhart, '45

Misunderstood

Why scorn the little mule
And call him stubborn, wary?
For was he not the tool
Of God's own Mother Mary?

Of beasts there is no other,
No matter what its size
Can boast it took God's Mother
To the birthplace of earth's Prize.

I think the mule's not lazy
But feels deep down inside
That men whose minds are hazy
Abuse his cherished pride.

Betty Cowell, Class '45

The Hat Box

I'm so disgusted, really I haven't a chance the way Paula stuffs me. It seems there will never be an end to her "wing dings." "I bought a darling red peasant beanie for my new suit!" she exclaims. And lo and behold I get another hat until my own lid won't even fit an straight.

You would be terribly surprised to see her assortment; still, she never seems to find the right one and she digs through me so many times. I'm simply bursting at the seams.

I'm getting pretty old and can't take such rough treatment, so yesterday, when from utter exhaustion, I tumbled off the shelf, Paula came in excitedly, took all of her hats and put my remains in the attic. Take it from me, the life of a hat box is a sorry one!

Barbara Schmidt, Class '47

Jesus, My Brother

More than the King of Love and Light
Was given to me that first Christmas night,
A Friend, a Lover
Surpassing all others.
How proud and privileged am I to be
One of the mystical family.
Thank you, dear Mother,
For Jesus, my Brother.

Ballad

Once on a very long time ago
In the land of ne'er do well,
In the forest green, where rivers flow
Did the Silken Dragon dwell.

Not fierce and ferocious but slow and mild,
He sunned himself all day.
He smoothed his coat and softly smiled
In a most undragonish way.

While strolling one day at the river's edge
Whom should he chance to meet
But a lady-love beside a hedge,
She smiled demure and sweet.

She had a coat of finest sheen
He was a silken king,
A handsomer couple was never seen,
Where the satin blue-boys sing.

They were married beneath a taffeta moon
Upon the velvet green;
They went upon a honeymoon
And have never since been seen.

Winnona Ellerton, '44.

Today and Tomorrow

Today is sunshine, tomorrow, the rain.
Today there is joy, tomorrow great pain.
But yesterday's laughter will turn into tears;
And tomorrow's great sorrow will soften with years.

Today we lament, tomorrow we sing;
And though life be fickle, remember one thing:
Today and tomorrow will cease by and by;
Today we may live, but tomorrow may die.

Patricia Bollerman, '45

Witnesses of the Infinite

When all the world is gray and dear, we come.
Stealthily and silently we approach, camouflaged against a bleak December sky. Drifting, whirling — now spinning swiftly skyward, now plunging downward, cavorting like whimsical fairies, we make our way through the air until at last we reach our resting place upon the earth.

Have you ever wondered about us? Millions upon millions of us — each distinct and marvelous in design — falling through space without colliding, each proceeding along its own particular path. Could you possibly say we are unguided, unwatched? No human eye perceives our beginning or knows the moment we pass into oblivion.
And yet there we are; the most intricate and exquisite works of art, contained in minute particles of air and moisture.

Some call us snowflakes, but, coming as we do when the other wonders of this earth are slumbering, we prefer to be called the white witnesses of the Infinite.

brating their tenth engagement anniversary . . . We also see that Dolores Wernette is an absolute genius at singing arias — she is doing "Velling" well at the Met.

In the world of sports we read that that famous skiing couple, O'Leary and Corrigan, finally left the country and are now in Switzerland.

That renowned debate team, Codd and Costello, are still debating as to who will be the best man — the best man will probably win. By the way, have you read that best seller, by Miss Sheppard, "Giese Giese and More Giese"? You'll enjoy it — she does.

The only person we could find no word of was Miss Ellerton. It seems that five years ago she became assistant to the assistant to a paper hanger. She mysteriously disappeared, and Loretta Hogan reports a queer lump in her living room wall — this may be Winnona.

This is your geese reporter Shep one and your paper hanger Winnie Pearl two signing off.
